L'ESPRIT COCON PLEASING THE SENSES

Specially designed for well-being professionals, L'Esprit Cocon offers a wide range of candles, massage oils and delicate fragrance diffusers. This 100% made-in-France brand has carved a niche for itself through its clever products which combine relaxation with a direct appeal to the senses. By Caroline Garros

An invitation to relaxation

"A massage is something that happens in the present; it's about respecting the basic needs for balance and inner peace and enabling the body and mind to escape. It's about exploring the inner you. The senses are awakened; the right 'touch', the pleasure of seeing, listening carefully and then a fragrance, a perfume, awakens the olfactory sense that transports you," says Sylvie Haller.

A well-being enthusiast, when giving massages Sylvie always works towards the same goal; to satisfy her clients by offering them moments of complete relaxation. As she is aware that unwinding and letting go is achieved by pleasing the senses, Sylvie has developed ranges of lightly perfumed products, designed specifically for these well-being breaks during which the client, cradled in a cocoon, becomes wrapped up in these delicate scents. So L'Esprit Cocon is aimed at well-being professionals looking for inspiring products that combine olfactory gentleness with unwinding and relaxation.

High-end products

L'Esprit Cocon offers exclusive fragrances and each olfactory combination conjures up a journey - "Brume des lacs" (lake mist), "Moment présent" (the present moment), "Inspiration lointaine" (faraway inspiration), "Soleil levant" (rising sun) and "L'aube des sens" (dawn of the senses) among them. L'Esprit Cocon is also very conscientious when it comes to the quality of its products which is why its candles are crafted from 100% plant wax and are guaranteed GMO and pesticide-free. This wax is blended with perfumes from Grasse and essential oils.

Craftsmanship comes into play in manufacturing the unique stoneware pieces, often made-to-measure, which showcase the perfumes, turning candles into attractive and personalised ornaments with designer decorations. Beauty that pleases all the senses... These products are of exceptional quality and really help you to let go and drift away.
